ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY

University Overview: Cagayan State University (CSU), located in Tuguegarao City, Cagayan Valley, Philippines, is a public higher education institution established on June 11, 1978. It was formed through the amalgamation of two prominent institutions: the Cagayan Valley College of Arts and Trade and the Northern Luzon State College of Agriculture. Later, under Republic Act 8292, all government educational institutions in the province were unified under CSU, strengthening its academic foundation and regional impact. Today, it is the first and only state-run medical university in Cagayan Valley, making it a key player in public medical education in the Philippines. The university is widely recognized for its College of...
