ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY

History and Establishment The Medical University of Lublin was founded on October 24, 1949, by cabinet decree, though some records indicate its origins trace back to 1944 with full autonomy granted in 1950. Located at Aleje Racławickie 1, 20-059 Lublin, Poland, this public state-owned institution has grown from its post-war establishment into a comprehensive medical education center. The university gained particular distinction when its Department of Dentistry was added in 1973, and the English-language medical faculty was formally established in 2001, though English-medium instruction has been available since 1995. Academic Structure and Infrastructure The Medical University of Lublin operates 4 faculties encompassing 119 departments, creating a...
