ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY

University Overview: Tanta University Faculty of Medicine Tanta University Faculty of Medicine, located in Tanta, Gharbia Governorate, Egypt, is a well-established public medical institution with a strong academic foundation. Founded in 1962, it began as the sole faculty of what would later evolve into a full-fledged university. Initially offering only medical education, it played a role in shaping healthcare training in the Nile Delta region. In 1972, it became an independent institution known as the University of Middle Delta, and by 1973, it was officially renamed Tanta University. Today, the university hosts multiple faculties across medicine, sciences, engineering, agriculture, and humanities, but its Faculty of Medicine remains one of the...
